

Summary

List of figures

List of tables

List of contributors

Acronyms

A note on Japanese transliteration and names

Preface

1. Introduction

Paul Midford & Wilhelm Vosse

2. Explaining: decentering and recentering in security strategy

Paul Midford

Part I: Non-American directions in defense policy

3. Centered on the fight within: the inward-looking nature of the Japanese debate on constitutional reinterpretation with a diluted US focus (Bryce Wakefield)

4. Lifting the ban on defense industrial production cooperation with non-US partners (Christopher W. Hughes)

Part II: Diversifying security partners

5. Japan's 'special' strategic partnership with Australia: 'decentering' underwrites 're-centering' (Thomas S. Wilkins)

6. Japan's policy toward India since 2000: for the sake of maintaining US leadership in East Asia (Natsuyo Ishibashi)

7. Japan's security partnerships with the Philippines and Vietnam (Bjørn Elias Mikalsen Grønning)

Part III: Japan's focus on multilateral security cooperation

8. From a decentering and recentering imperative: Japan's approach to Asian security multilateralism

Takeshi Yuzawa

9. Is Japan's engagement in counter-piracy missions a step towards decentering of its security policy?

Wilhelm Vosse

10. Japan's cooperation with the EU in the nexus of development and security

Marie Söderberg

11. Evolution of Japan's non-US centric security strategy and European influences on Japan's peace-building policy

Yukiko Takezawa

Part IV: Reflections on Japan's non-American focused initiatives

12. The continued centrality of the United States to Japan's security doctrine in an era of expanding security partnerships (Andrew L. Oros)

13. Non-US direction in Japan's security strategy: a Chinese view (Suisheng Zhao)

14. Conclusion (Wilhelm Vosse & Paul Midford)

Index